

The following are a set of instructions on how to download you raw DNA from Ancestry.com

1. Open the Ancestry.com website login page.
<https://www.ancestry.com/account/signin>
2. Enter your email and password.

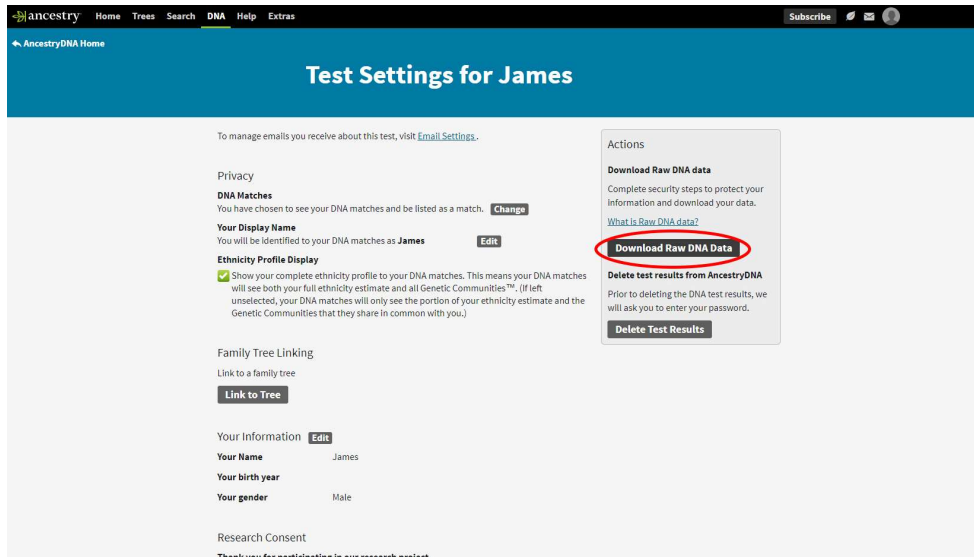

3. On the upper left panel, click on DNA and then scroll down to and click on Your DNA Results Summary.

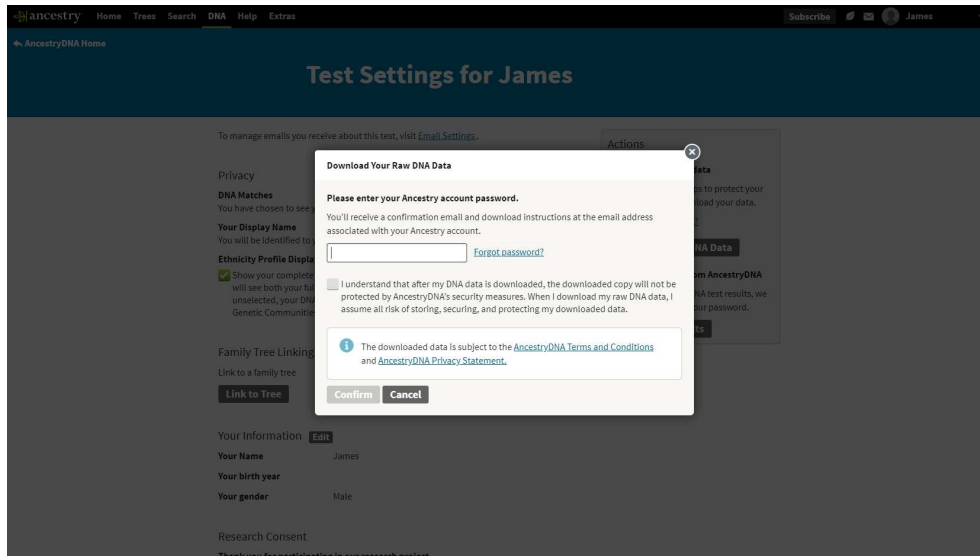

4. In the upper right panel click on the settings tab.

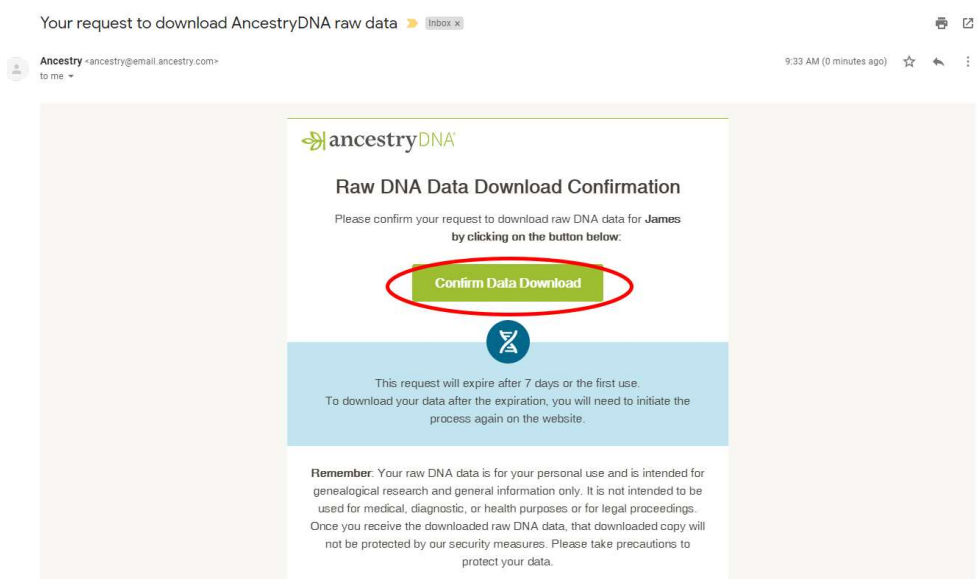

5. On the right side of the page click on Download Raw DNA Data

6. Ancestry will ask you for your password again and to click on the box below to verify that you understand your security concerns over the raw data.

7. You will be forwarded an email which may take several minutes to arrive. In the email you will be asked to confirm your data download. Click on the link and it will take you back to the Ancestry website where the download will begin.

8. The raw Ancestry DNA will be zipped up into a file that you will need to extract. The file that you extract will be called AncestryDNA.txt. If there are several downloads it is suggested that you rename each file according to the person it correlates to since every person's DNA will be labeled AncestryDNA.txt and you will not want to mix them up. Renaming the file will not change the data.
